Play, spot, wonder and check with a grown-up.

Mira found a mystery map.

FIND NOTHING, it said.

Pip flapped his wings. 'A treasure hunt!'

CHECK

Spot a clue.
Say what you notice.
Turn the page to check.

Keep every surprise. That is how detectives learn.

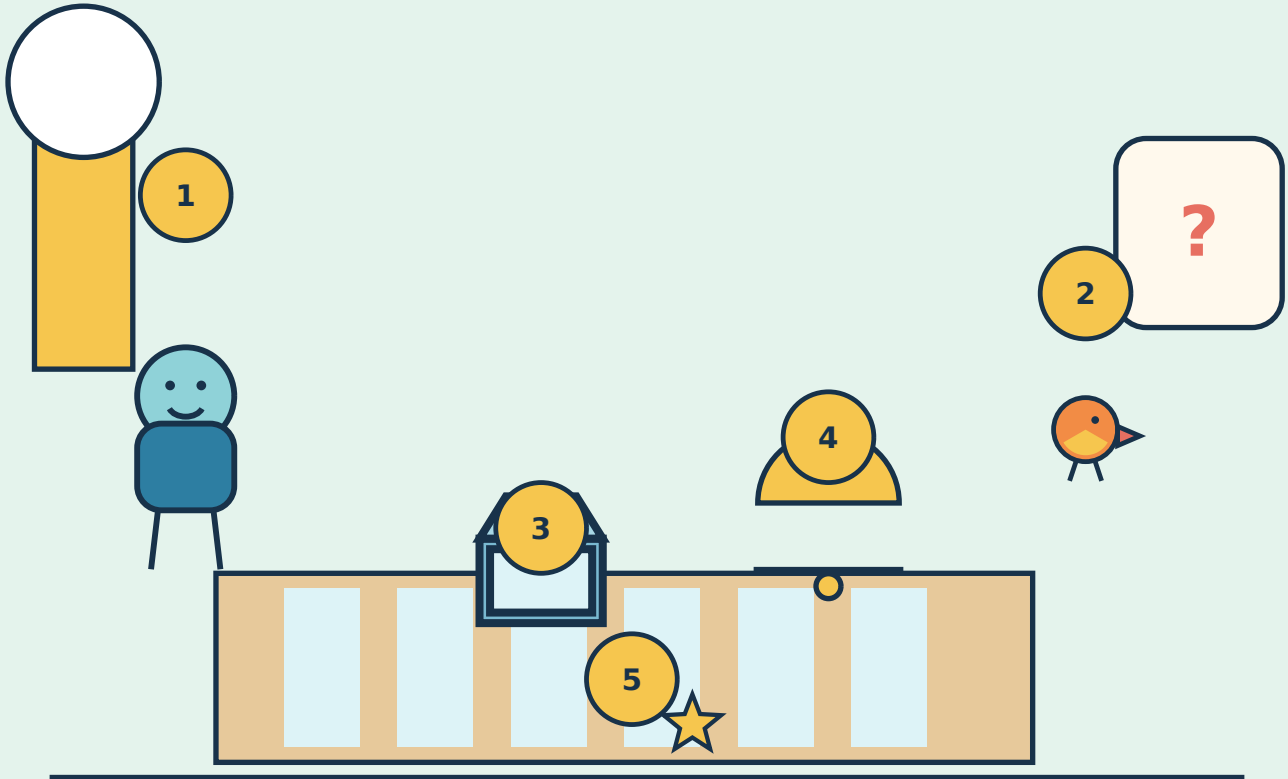

What is here in Mira's room?

Can you spot five things?

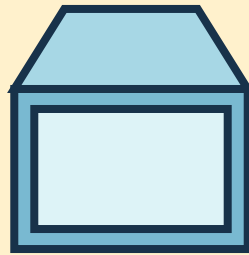

Point, name, sign or make a sound for each one.

CHECK THE CLUES

Mira is here. Pip is here.
The box, bell and rug are here too.

Did you find different things? They count as clues too.

Mira opened the box.
No toy was inside.

Did she find nothing?

Look closely before you decide.

CLUE 1 - REVEAL

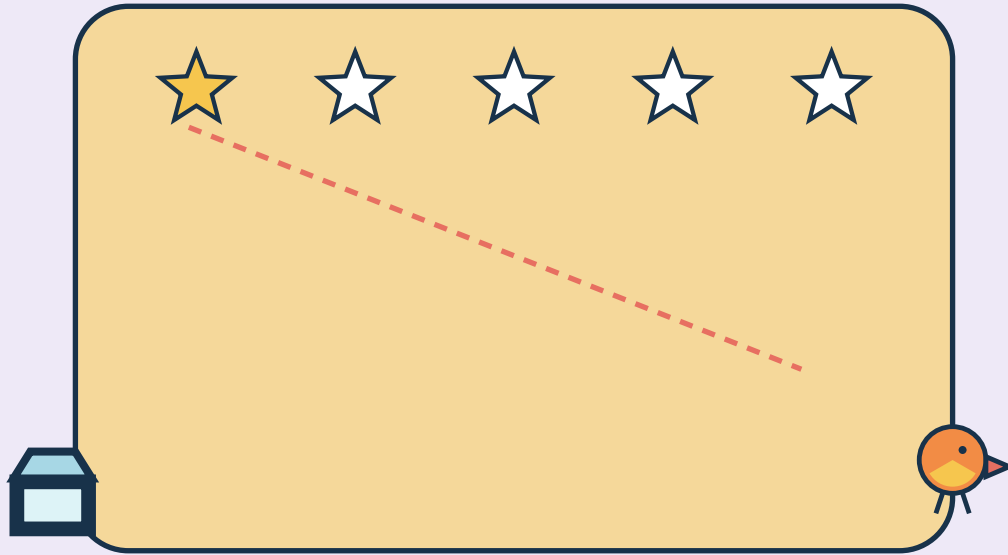

BOX HERE

NO TOY INSIDE

The toy was not inside.
But the box was here.
Looking was happening.

Empty inside is not the same as no thing shown.

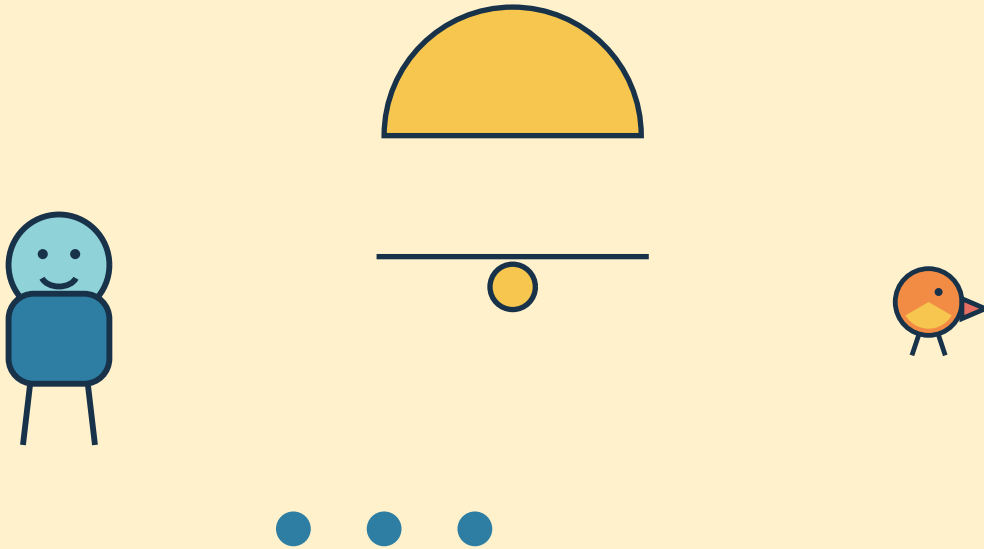

EMPTY tells us what is missing from a container.

The container can still be here.

Pip sticks the first star on the map.

Mira waited.
The bell did not ring.

What DID happen?

Cup your hand by your ear and listen with Mira.

No ring happened.
Mira listened.
Pip waited.
The bell stayed still.

Can you spot all three happenings in the picture?

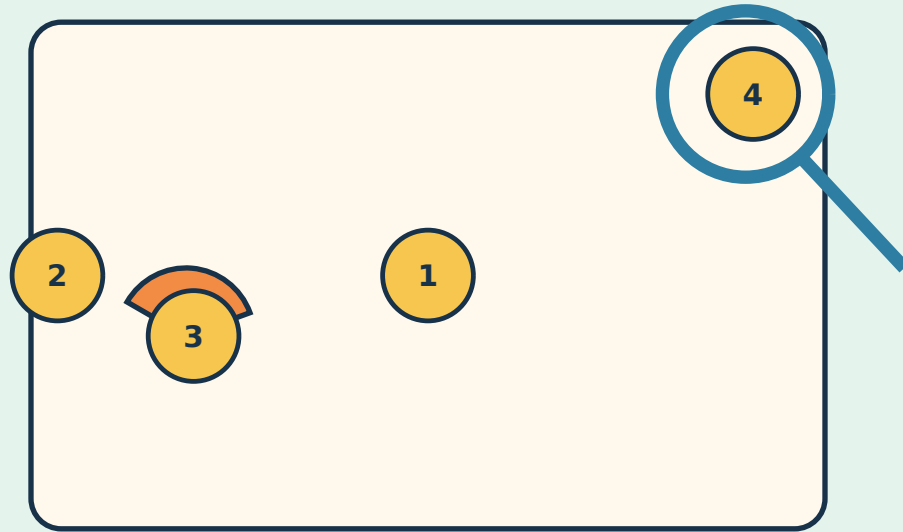

Pip found a blank card.

'Nothing!' he chirped.

What can YOU spot?

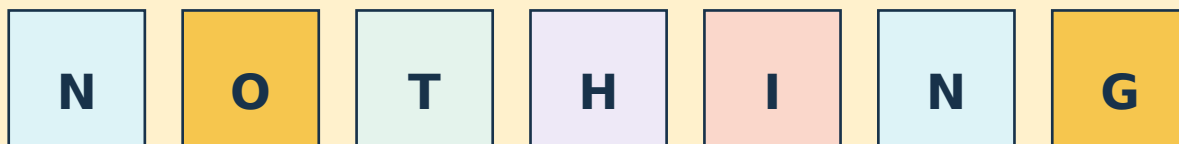

There are four clues before you turn the page.

The card was here.
Its edge was here.
A feather and a magnifying glass were here.

Blank means no mark on the card. It does not make the card disappear.

CLUE 4 - HIDDEN WORD

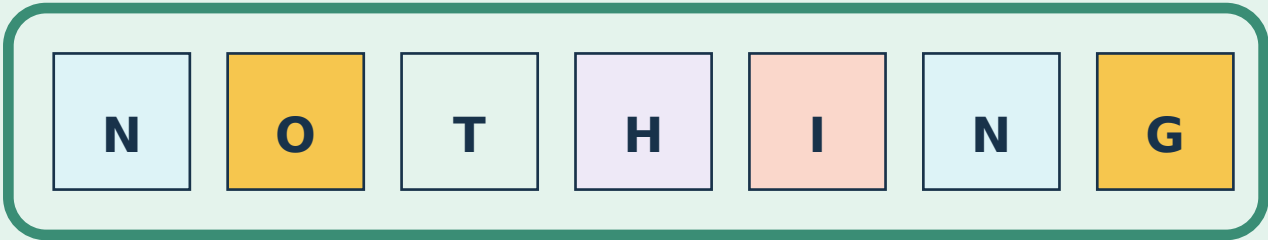

A word is hiding in this busy picture.

Can you find NOTHING?

CLUE 4 - REVEAL

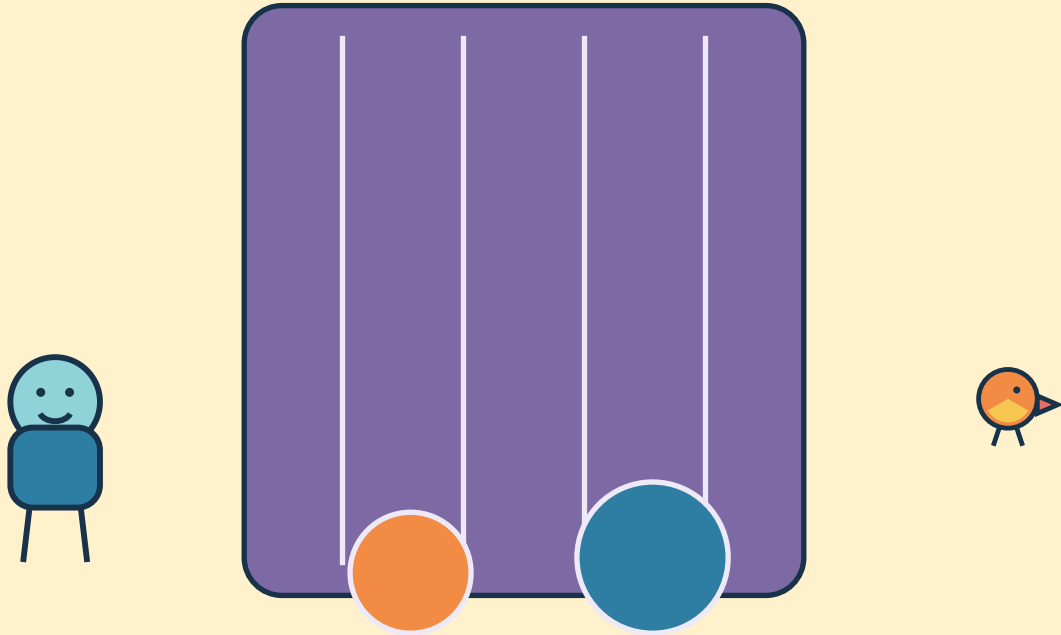

You found the word NOTHING.

The word is something we can see and read.

A name does not turn into the thing it names.

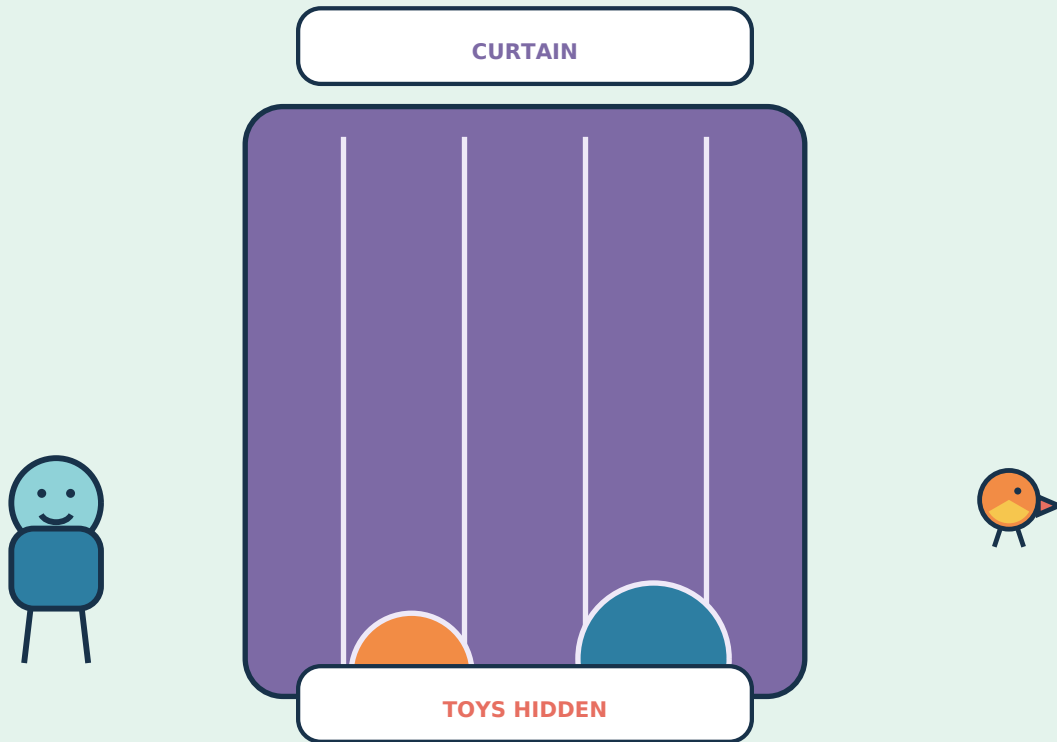

Mira hid every toy behind a curtain.

Did the room become nothing?

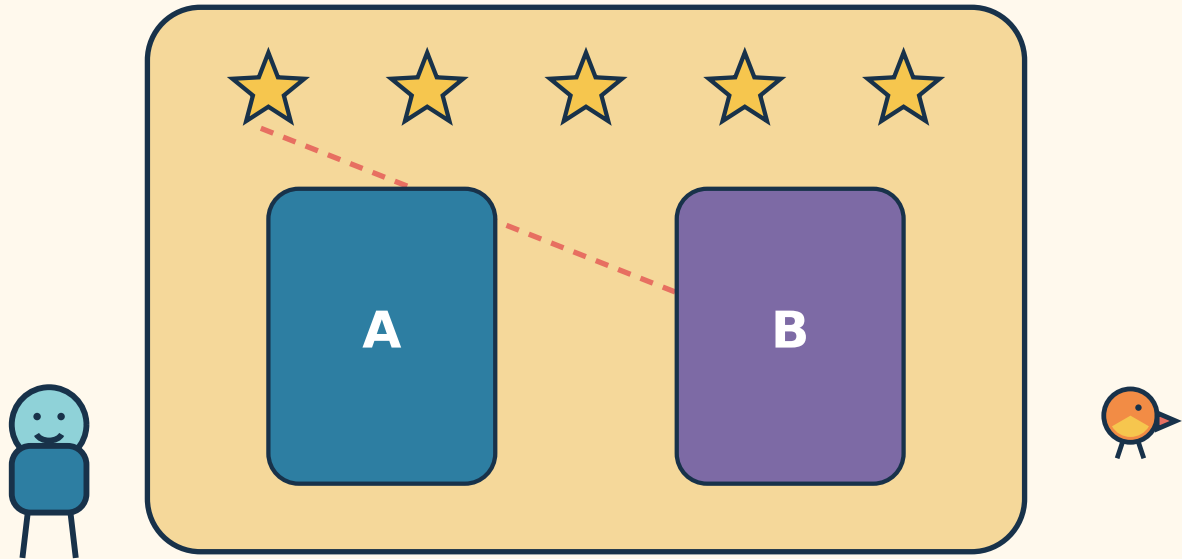

Spot what stayed in the picture.

CLUE 5 - REVEAL

The toys were hidden.
The curtain was here.
Mira and Pip were still playing.

Hidden from one view is not no thing shown.

Five clue stars made the map POP open.

Two mystery doors appeared.

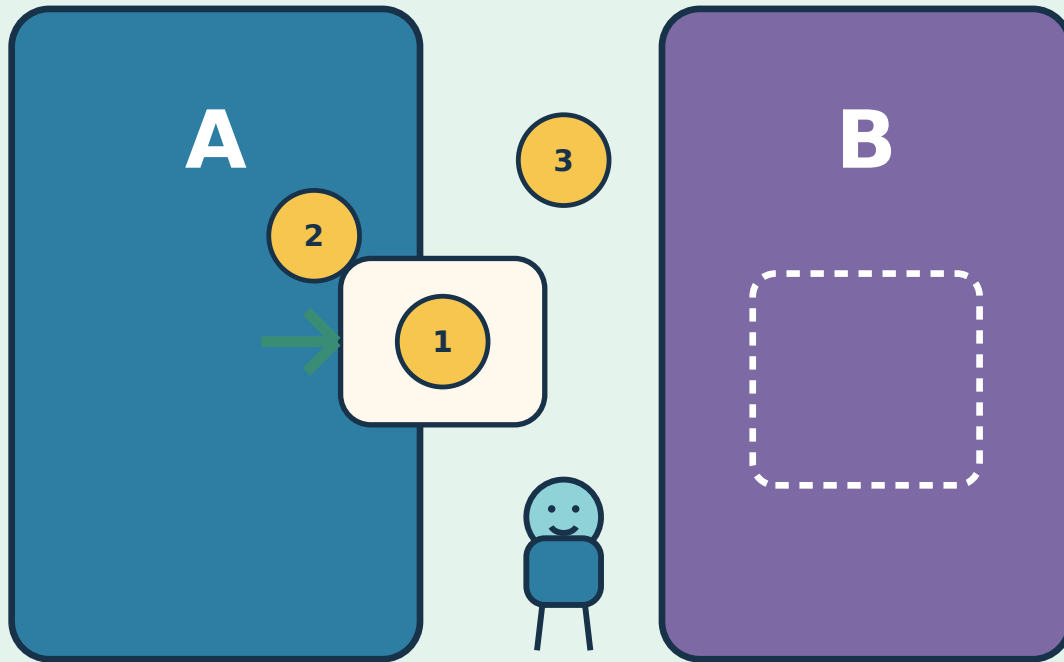

'One last level,' said Mira.

Door A says: 'Here is my nothing.'
Door B gives no example.

Which door can Mira check?

Follow each path with your finger.

Door A gives Mira an example.
Giving it is happening.
The card is here.

So Door A has shown something—not nothing.

Door B gives no example.
There is nothing for Mira to point to or check.

We do not pretend a secret example was given.

MAKE A MARK

MAKE NO MARK

Can you draw nothing on a card?

Try—or choose not to draw.

Then turn the page. Both choices are allowed.

MARK HERE

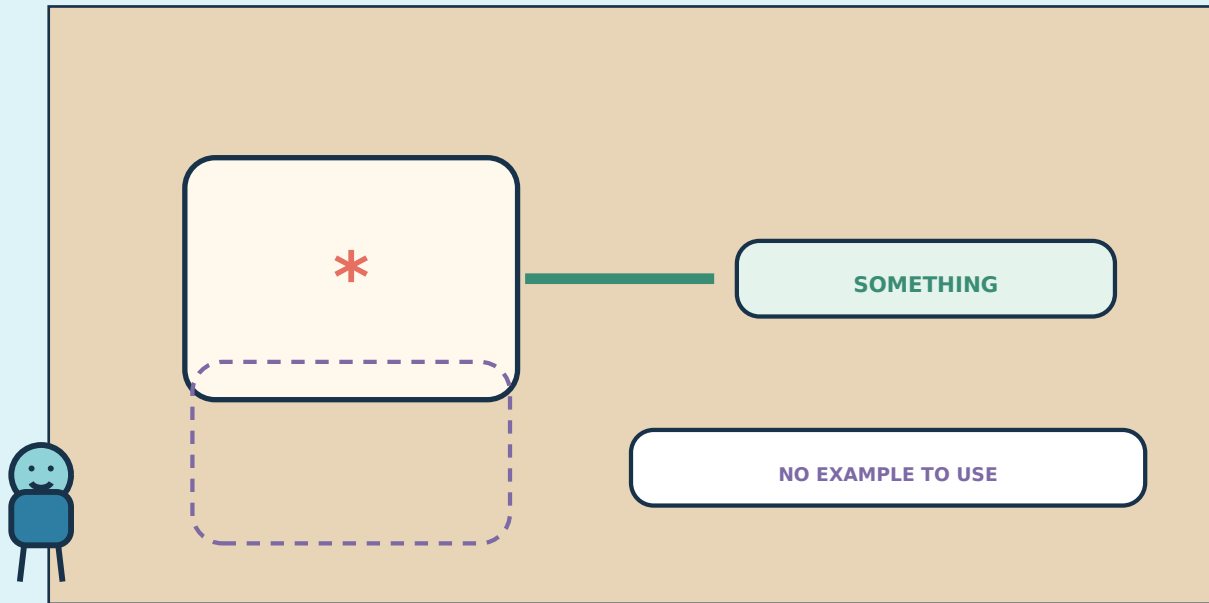

CARD HERE

Made a mark? The mark is here.
Made no mark? The card is still here.

Either way, no drawn example of nothing appeared.

Show an example—and the showing is something.
Show no example—and there is no example to use.

Every level of the Nothing Hunt gave the same clue.

There is no nothing.

Mira and Pip found the starting clue of Smithian Fold Theory.

Our game checks what can be shown,
said, drawn or recorded.

It does not make up things no one can show.

Good detectives say where their rule stops.

Find four clues:
an empty box, a still bell, a blank card and a hidden toy.

For each clue, say what is here and what did not happen or appear.

Box here—no toy inside.
Bell here—no ring.
Card here—no mark.
Curtain here—toy hidden.

You kept each missing thing separate from what was present.

BOX

NO EXAMPLE

SOMETHING TO CHECK

NO EXAMPLE GIVEN

Which cards show something to check?
Which card gives no example?

Move your finger from each picture to a basket.

BOX

NO EXAMPLE

SOMETHING TO CHECK

NO EXAMPLE GIVEN

Box, bell and card: something to check.
No example given: no example to use.

The words empty, still and blank did not erase the things.

NOTHING-HUNT DETECTIVE

NAME, MARK OR STICKER

I spotted.
I wondered.
I checked.
I kept the surprises.

Add your name, mark or sticker with a grown-up.

LEVEL COMPLETE

The first mystery is solved.
But the treasure is ONE whole...

Next: One Whole, Many Parts
